

Toy Story theme park makes you feel you've shrunk to toy size
Jane Knight

20 best boltholes in Cornwall

More on Cornwall

Times Walks: Padstow and Harlyn, Cornwall

Salt on the tongue and a glint of dull silver on the sea as a spectacular coastal path goes from harbour to c...

Last updated August 21 2010

Post a comment

Times Walks: Rough Tor and Brown Willy, Bodmin Moor, Cornwall

Bodmin Moor is a suitably wild and Gothic setting for Daphne du Maurier's Jamaica Inn

Last updated May 22 2010

1 Comment

Cycle route: Camel Trail, Cornwall

Trains don't like gradients any more than cyclists do – so the route is blissfully flat throughout

Last updated May 15 2010

Annabelle Thorpe

Last updated August 28 2010 12:01AM

Cornwall is the hippest place to holiday in the UK this year. Stay in the glitziest addresses to fabulous family hotels

Cornwall is the hippest place to holiday in the UK, and its profile has never been higher, thanks to the impromptu arrival this week of the new Miss Cameron. But those in the know have been jetting off to the farthest reaches of the South West for years. A-listers and politicians head for the glitziest addresses, such as the Scarlet, the Tresanton and the Lugger, but Cornwall is still pleasingly egalitarian, with romantic bolt holes available for most budgets, and fabulous family hotels, too.

For the view

Mount Haven, Marazion

Quite possibly the most perfectly located hotel in the whole of Cornwall, Mount Haven looks across to St Michael's Mount, with a decked terrace and cosy lounge with floor-to-ceiling glass. The hotel brings a touch of eastern exoticism to the South West, with artefacts from Nepal, Bhutan and Bali dotted around, a healing room offering reiki and an upscale restaurant. Details: B&B doubles from £120 (01736 710249, www.mounthaven.co.uk)

1 of 4

The Scarlet at Mawgan Porth handout

Post a comment

Follow Best of Britain

★ Recommend (0)

Print